Love Stories Of Great Men...(& Women ;)

With the anticipated arrival of the "Sex And The City" sequel, most girls are catching up on memories of their 4 favorite New York socialites. Like most girls, I have watched the series and the movie countless times. I kept going back in my mind to the scene when Carrie and Big are in bed and she is reading her Library book "Love Letters Of Great Men". She is a hopeless romantic (for those men out there who would rather catch the Lakers game). It made me think about how we are so rushed in the modern age that we forget how important our "story" is. We all have our love stories and the love story that brings you to the decision to share the rest of your life with someone should be told and documented with the utmost care. Well, for those of you "Carrie & Big's" that don't know how to write for the big screen, "Writeshot" can do it for you. They spend 2 weeks with you documenting and writing your love story through pen and pictures. Let your epic story be told. This is their mission statement;

"Were into legacy, were into family, were into recalling old memories and creating new ones, were into your story.."

Preparation

With only minutes to go...

The wedding day is a whirlwind of activity. From the bride's hair and makeup to the groom's suit and the final walk down the aisle, every moment is filled with anticipation and excitement. It's a time when the bride and groom are surrounded by loved ones, and the air is thick with love and joy. The wedding is a celebration of the couple's union, and it's a day that will be remembered for a lifetime.
